Findings: Getting books into kids’ hands key

LITERACY: Getting books into kids’ hands key

The Desert Sun | Sunday, November 22, 2009 | 100

Continued from A1

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly. “They’re going to give them a diagnosis of their skill level. So if they’re getting up to grade level in the middle of the school year, their special education teacher can use that,” said Ruiz.

For a second-grade student, Ruiz said, “If a student is not reading at a second-grade level, his teachers would be informed and the student would be considered for special education.”

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.

The children are monitored and their program is assessed regularly.